

Feng Shui Norfolk

Feng Shui Norfolk - Literally the meaning of Feng Shui the oriental concept means "wind and water." The concepts are more simply understood with experience that it is pronounced or defined. Feng Shui needs to be experienced in order to completely know its ramifications on the human spirit. The elusive energy referred to as chi is ever existing and surrounds the meaning and the application of Feng Shui. Although it is intangible, chi is all over in the world and is considered one's aesthetic periphery. Feng Shui reveals itself in our attitudes regarding landscape and concerning life. It is the framework we place either unconsciously or consciously all-around our lives.

According to the customs in the Orient, object positioning such as graves, furniture and buildings is based on the patterns recognized through the flow of chi and yin and yang. Together, yin and yang energies create both negative and positive effects. Feng Shui is made up of five elements. These elements are known as metal, fire, earth, wood and water. They blend in their own specific ways so as to create either positive or destructive cycles. In order for optimum Feng Shui to be obtained within whichever room, all of the five elements will be included without being overpowered by whichever one of them separately.

For example, if modern furniture featuring metal is dominating a specific space, the effects may be balance with wood elements. Candles add a fire component if that is desired. If implementing Feng Shui as a design feature within one's home, it is essential to use natural substances whenever possible. The dual aspects of yin and yang always reign supreme in Feng Shui because the ultimate objective is to generate a harmonious balance among human beings and natural stuff.

The bedroom is considered among the most essential rooms in whichever home. The bedroom is crucial to the flow of energy all over the home. Beds themselves are said to have power positions also. Several ancient Asian philosophy believe that the energy from somebody who ever slept in a bed leaves a residue. For optimum Feng Shui, the way the bed is placed with regards to the bedroom door has to be considered. The door should always be visible from the bed. If the door is not seen from the bed, one could make use of a mirror in such a way that it will reflect the door. This will restore Feng Shui.

Feng Shui links landscapes and life together and all things in life depend on each other. The Oriental way of thinking believes the landscape is a living and breathing entity. There are a lot of aspects concerning earth and humanity and heaven that the Western world could consider as individuals in the east do. Just as Shakespeare said in Hamlet, "There are more things in heaven and earth, my dear Horatio, than are dreamt of in your philosophy."